14. CODE OF CONDUCT FOR THE WELFARE OF THE HORSE

The Polish Equestrian Federation asks everyone involved in equestrian sport in any capacity to observe the following Code and the principle that the welfare of the horse is paramount. The welfare of the horse must always and everywhere be taken into account in equestrian sport and must never be subordinated to sporting competition or any other objectives, such as commercial interests.

I.

At all stages of training and preparation of the horse for competition, the welfare of the horse must take precedence over all other requirements. This includes constant care, training methods, careful management, shoeing and transportation.

II.

Horses and riders must be trained, competent and healthy before taking part in competitions. This also applies to the administration of medication and medical substances, surgical procedures that may jeopardise the welfare of the horse or the pregnancy of a mare, and cases of misuse of training aids.

III.

Competitions must not jeopardise the welfare of the horse. This requires particular attention to the competition venue, footing conditions, weather, stable conditions, the horses' fitness and their safety, including during the journey home from the competition.

IV.

Every effort must be made to ensure that horses receive proper care after the competition and humane treatment after the end of their sporting careers. This includes appropriate veterinary care for injuries sustained during competition, provision for a peaceful old age, and, where necessary, humane euthanasia.

V.

The Polish Equestrian Federation encourages everyone involved in equestrian sport to continually improve their knowledge and skills concerning all aspects of working with horses.
